a. Rally Against Student Debt October 22nd at Noon on the Pentacrest

Recent data from the Department of Education shows that 40 percent of the total student debt load in the U.S. is held by graduate students. The Chronicle of Higher Education reported in March of 2014 that for two-thirds of graduate students, the average debt burden is $60,000. Additionally, National Science Foundation data indicates that the average amount of debt carried by doctoral students, specifically, has increased by 70 percent over the last decade. Undergraduates are also, of course, burdened with student debt. The average University of Iowa student graduates with almost $30,000 of debt, and 70% of Iowa students across the state carry some level of student debt.

Governor Branstad recently said that the Board of Regents is considering a 1.7% tuition increase next year, and fees will undoubtedly continue to rise as well. Meanwhile, UI President Sally Mason said while meeting with the College of Education on September 24th that half of student debt at Iowa is "lifestyle debt" resulting from students buying iPhones, iPads, and laptops. In order to show the Board of Regents, Sally Mason and university administrators that Iowa students need more support and care about the issue of debt, there is going to be a Rally Against Student Debt on Oct. 22 during the board’s budgetary meeting for the upcoming academic year. The rally will begin at noon on the pentacrest. Please consider attending and spread the word to others. For more information, see the facebook event page at https://www.facebook.com/events/722563247838402.
b. Even though this is 2014, only 7 to 41% of U.S. faculty in the sciences are women (NSF, 2009). If you support enabling the success of women in science and providing STEM opportunities for K-12 girls, or if you are interested in networking and fellowship opportunities, consider joining the just-established Iota Chi (Iowa City) chapter of Graduate Women in Science! Our next event is a Fellowship workshop on October 15. Feel free to like us on Facebook and email us at IotaChiGWIS@gmail.com. All genders encouraged.

c. Next Travel Funds deadline: November 11th.
d. Next Supplemental Travel Funds deadline: November 6th.
